

Part-Time Opportunity for Motivated Economics Student

A startup is looking for a bright and motivated student to join on a part-time basis.

This gives the occasion to work with a well-known economist and leading ratings expert in the health tech space.

Role:

- Work closely with a senior expert on projects at the intersection of health technology, economics, and data-driven ratings.
- Support in data collection, cleaning, and analysis/econometrics.
- Contribute to research insights and practical applications that impact the fast-growing health tech sector.

Requirements:

- Strong background in data handling (Excel, Python, R, or similar).
- Analytical mindset with attention to detail.
- Interest in economics, health tech, and applied research.
- Self-starter, reliable, and eager to learn.

What you'll gain:

- Hands-on experience in the health tech industry.
- Mentorship from a recognised expert in economics and ratings.
- Flexible working hours, suitable for students.
- Competitive hourly compensation.

Work is primarily remote, with only occasional in-person meetings in Tel Aviv.

If interested, please send your CV + short motivation to: eliluzac@hotmail.com